THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L. JR.

Whether or not the mines open up again full blast now or later, it is this writer's surmise that never again will this city become the virtual ghost town it was in 1921 and 1922. A trip though Nevada City and its environs reveals an abundance of one of the surest signs of progress —the increase in the number of small homes.

To one who has been away from this community for a number of years the growth is particularly noticeable in outlaying areas—on Town Talk, on the Banner Mountain Road, at Glenbrook, in Gold Flat, over toward the White Spot on the Blue Tent road and out towards Willow Valley. Little white houses, many of them built by the owners, dot the green hillsides, and about each small home, the red clay is covered by a bit of lawn and a bright patch of flowers. In many of them some project of home improvement is continually in progress—a rock garden, a new fence half completed, a garage in construction—all waiting for the occasional hours the family's busy breadwinner can devote to building.

When war greatly accelerates the flux of population, people who ordinarily don't travel much see new places, and when the new environment is attractive to live in they settle and increase the population beyond the normal rate. If economic reasons demand their time elsewhere for most of the year, they at least endeavor to come here for summers.

The increase in population some time ago filled up most of the houses and lots in town and stimulated homebuilders to look for attractive sites in the environs. Ten years ago Town Talk ridge, where the Shannonhouse, Sheldon, Tobias and other time residences are, was second rate timber land selling for a nominal sum per acre. Now it is rapidly developing into one of the areas best residential sections. With the resumption of building, after post war snarls are unraveled from the economic skein, rapid growth is predicted for these charming, view-struck, neighborhoods in the pines.

People have discovered that a few minutes driving each day, to and from work, is a small price to pay for the advantage of a large tree-grown lot with a magnificent view, with the added peace and privacy that living in the country gives. And there is plenty of room in the hills hereabouts for new developments which, we think, will develope in unprecedented proportions here when the building industries return to normal.

Lumbering takes up a good deal of slack left by the absence of mining as an industrial backlog of community income. The urgent demand for wood will probably continue for several years, and while it does the activity of timber crews and mills in this area will continue at a high level. By the time lumbering is played out perhaps the mines will be open again, or perhaps the Nevada City-Grass Valley's renown as a delightful summer and residential community will increase to the point where that factor will be of sufficient importance to support the area in prosperity.

In any case, the future of this area is rendered promising by a number of economic possibilities which, if properly capitalized upon and supported by citizens and civic organizations, as well as private firms, should make a progressive and prosperous life for the community.

Thirty five employess of the Tahoe Sugar Pine Company's saw mill are idle today as Albert B. Walton of Sacramento State Box Company and William Stevenson, president of the Tahoe Sugar Pine Company confer. No immediate settlement is in sight at the moment.

Efforts made to continue the saw mill in operation today failed when strike breaking employees reached an agreement with strikers.

Cause of the strike is reported to be the firing by the management of mill foreman, Paul K. Cullen.

SNELL, SHELDON, HOSKINS LEAD IN VOTE TALLY

The count of 6155 ballots in the election in Nevada County yesterday by County Clerk R. N. McCormack did not resolve the contests for superior judge, district attorney and sheriff.

In the race for district attorney, Ward Sheldon totaled 2949 ballots and Frank Finnegan was runner up with2430 votes. It is too early to say which is victor, however, for there 256 absentee ballots to be counted.

Final figures in contest for superior judge give James Snell, Grass Valley attorney residing in Gold Flat, 2662 votes, Vernon Stoll, also of Grass Valley, 2314 and William E. Wright of Nevada City 954. The race for Stoll and Snell will end in November.

Perhaps the greatest interest centered in the contest for sheriff in which Carl J. Tobiassen was pitted against five contestants. The election resulted in Richard Hoskins, Grass Valley garage owner, receiving 2218 votes, Tobiassen 2182, Wayne Brown, another Grass Valley garage operator 1157, Thomas O'Dea, 138, William Pohley 145, and Thomas Barrett 298. Tobiassen and Hoskins will run off in the November election.

Jack Curry and Baptiste Toccalini emerged high men in the race for constable of Nevada Township and Art Hammond and Leo McGrath were top candidates in the contest for that post in the Grass Valley Township.

On the Democratic ticket Engle received 2386 ballots and on the Republican 1912. Andrew Rogers, Republican candidate of Nevada City, polled 442 Democratic ballots and 294 Republican. Don Hoffman of Placerville filing only on the Republican ticket, received 118 votes.

NEVADA CITY 75 YEARS AGO

H. S. Bradley was announced as a candidate for county surveyor, subject to the decision of the Republican Party. Mr. Bradley had been acting county surveyor for many years and was considered to be well qualified for the position.

Aaron A. Sargent and George F. Jacobs made application for a mining claim known as Quaker Hill. Hunts Hill, and Scotch Flat containing 1100 acres and bounded on the north by Deer Creek, on the east by Greenhorn Creek, on the south by Carney and Co. and on the west by Townsends claim and Nesbits claim.

One of the richest discoveries in the state was made when Wm. Michels and a partner were walking up the Washington Road about five miles from this city, and came upon a lump worth nearly eight dollars. They immediately went to work and ascertained the gravel prospect well and next day returned and panned out $84. On the following day Marker's stage stopped on the down trip and eleven passengers picked up from $10 to $12 each in gold dust in an hour.

Grammar school graduates entering high school were Hattie Dickerman, Louise Man, Gertrude Caswell, Louisa Cannon, Helen Naffzigar, Mollie Watson, Annie Joy, Ida Young, Aaron Martin, Adolph Rosenthal, Otto Runge, Charley Runge, George Nihell, Daniel Nevins and Samuel Simmons.

The horse ran at full speed down the street, crossed the bridge and Main St. and went directly through Dreyfuss and McAninnin's livery stable and was stopped as he came out on Broad St. The buggy was smashed to pieces but the doctor escaped with a few slight bruises.

The firemen of that city were also invited to attend and accepted but could not come in as large a body as the military for the reason that they could not leave the town completely unprotected.

The Cricket Club of this city assisted by some of the Grass Valley players was to play a match game at Cashin's Field with the cricketers of Penryn. An interesting contest was expected.

STRIKES ARE A SYMPTOM OF REVOLUTION

By Ralph H. Taylor

Perhaps the series of strikes that have battered the nation's economy may be more clearly understood if they are examined realistically as trees that hide the dense black forest of discord in America. With every passing week it becomes more apparent that this strike stunned country is in the throes of a crisis that might well be called the Battle of America.

The strikes themselves—big and small; past, present and future—are but skirmishes in this gigantic battle. There are other skirmishes on other fronts in this general war. Looked at singly, they may appear disconnected and confusing. Looked at as a whole, they present an ugly but congruent picture. They present a broad fight to the finish upon the traditional American way of life, upon the political, social and economic doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

It is the conviction of this colunist unpleasant to hold but nevertheless inescapable, that in the perspective of history this Battle of America will be recorded as the conflict in which the people of America saved—or lost—their democracy.

It should be plain to every thinking man who has read the newspapers since the war ended that there are many men in high places and high favor in our federal government who are fighting to extend and perpetuate government controls over the private enterprises of the people.

That is one front in this battle.

It should also be plain to every thinking man who has read the newspapers accounts of strikes since the war that the strategy behind them, in remarkably numerous instances, is not to get justice for workers from employers but to wreck industry to the point where government will take it over. Only a few days ago a newspaper quoted a typical comment, a railroad union spokesman expressing the hope that government would take over ownership and operation of the railroads

That is another front in this battle.

It should also be plain to every thinking man who has read of post war legislation and proposed legislation—in state legislatures and the congress—that a powerful phalanx of socialist backed lawmakers are determined to make the American indvidual dependent upon the government or all sorts of "benefits", possible and impossible of accomplisshment. Endless extensions of social security is one form and another are ceaselessly pressed for—compulsory health care for everybooy, employment guarantees for everybody retirement pensions for everybody, a good living for everybody, whether idle or working. Practically everything desirable in life for everybody—government guaranteed and tax financed.

That is another front in this battle.

Labor union leaders, boasting a claimed power of 15 million members and votes, boldly declare their intent to dominate the government by electing legislators and judges and government executives who will —"take program" from them and to purge those who will not take program.

That is another front in this battle.

If the aggressors in this fight—and they are extremely aggressive—should win, American democracyc world be dead. We would be a people dependent upon and regimented entirely by the government and the government would be the mere instrument of dictatorship by an oligarchy which might include such names as Lewis, Petrillo and Hillman. And eventually, in such circumstances the strongest man in the oligarchy would take the reins of dictatorship in his own single grasp.

Such a battle was fought in Germany—and lost by the people, fought in Italy and lost by the people. Such a battle in Russia was never fought, because the people had no liberty to fight for or to lose. They simply passed from the dictatorship of the czar to that of Lenin.

To paint this picture blackly is simply to paint it realistically. It is folly not to face facts squarely. Yet to see it blackly is not to see it hopelessly. Historically as a democracy, this nation has been slow to awareness of menace from abroad, and slow to anger and action—as evidenced by our record in the two world wars. But once aroused the American people are fierce and implacable foes to any enemy that would destroy them. It is reasonable to hope that —once fully aware and fully aroused—they will be as resolute in combatting domestic dangers.

But it is time that we, the people, begin to realize that the Battle of America is not a prospect to prepare for—it is a battle in which we already are engaged to the hilt.

FAMINE HELP NOT COMING FAST ENOUGH

WASHINGTON, D C June 6—The great majority of Europe's 40 million urban children are seriously underfed and require supplementary feeding, according to Maurice Pate, American Red Cross official who accompanied Herbert Hoover on his world survey of famine conitions.

Pate a member of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee was also associated with Hoover in the food relief program in Belgium and Poland after the first world war. The needs following this war are three times greater than they were in 1819 and 1919 he reported following the survey of the health of children in twelve countries.

Highlights from his report follow: Poland—More than 80,000 children live in Warsaw's ruins where many families subsist on nothing but potatoes. The health of Poland's children as worse than any other country in Europe; more than 20 per cent of Warsaw's children have died during the past year. Of the entire population of 7 million children more than 280,000 are now in dire need of supplementary food and clothing. Greece—The infant death rate in Athens is 25 per cent. Tubculosis has reached two to three times its pre war level which was seven times higher than in the United States.

INFLUX OF FISHERMEN EXPECTED

With gas rationing off the return of summer and automobile travel freed of restrictions, a great influx of fishermen ie predicted this season. The opening day saw the start of this movement into this area and fine weaher added to the enjoyment.

Fishing continues to improve and with the opening of the remaining lakes and streams on May 30 some good results were enjoyed by most of the sportsmen.

The lower reaches of the Truckee river are high and roily but some fair results were obtained with bait. Wayne Paulsen of San Francisco got the limit of rainbow trout in the river near Boca and Drs. A. A. and C. C. Cozzalio of Reno caught four fish weighing a total of 12 pounds in the Truckee river using a live mouse for bait. The upper part of the Truckee river is fairly clear and some good fly fishing has been enjoyed. Best results have been reported with California mosquito and yellow tail forked.

The Little Truckee is high and fishing there is reported poor.

Donner Lake continues good and some good luck was reported in trolling in Independence Lake.

No reports have been received from the smaller lakes in the back country but some good catches were made at Weber Lake.

Lt. Comdr. Elzear Foley with Mrs. Foley and their baby Dennie James are visiting his mother Mrs. Emma Foley. Comdr. Foley spent two years in the South Pacific and has recently been stationed at Port Eueneme.

MORE WORK FOR MORE MEN

This is National Foreign Trade Week — a California product that became as famous throughout the world as has this state's movies, its Golden Gate, its matchless sunshine and many other things.

Some two decades ago Stanley T. Olafson a Californian by adoption conceived the idea of having public attention focused once a year upon world trade and its benefits to this state. Soon the idea spread beyond California's spacious borders became national in its observance and prior to Pearl Harbor was observed in many foreign countries as well. It is sponsored nationally by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The date for the observance of Foreign Trade Week was chosen because it includes National Maritime Day, May 22 the anniversary of the first crossing of any ocean by a steam vessel. It is only fitting that National Maritime Day sponsored by the Propeller Clubs of America should be so inseprably linked with foreign trade. It is our merchant marine which carries the nation's products all over the world. It was the forerunner of the merchant marine, those stately Yankee clippers which wrote maritime history in the halcyon days of sail.

It was American sailing ships that rounded the Horn to pour manpower into the gold diggings of '49 throughout the Golden State then carry the gold of this dusty young state to the east to enhance the wealth of our nation. Later in the days of Dana sailing ships carried hides and tallow from Californias' vast ranches and missions to the Atlantic seaboard. Thus began California's water borne commerce.

Before Pearl Harbor the products of California's farms, mines, forests and factories poured through its ports in a steady stream. With the outbreak of World War II this state's harbors became ports of embarkation for men and materials needed for the successful waging of that war.

This is the first peace time observance of Foreign Trade Week since that fateful year, 1941. There have been annual observances during the war years in many California cities, but they were intended mostly to keep alive the foreign trade week idea which started here. This week San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, San Diego, Alameda and scores of other California cities are joining whole heartedly in boservance of the week which has as its slogan, "world trade puts men to work."

When the present economic adjustment involving labor disputes, price controls, freedom of production aand other factors is completed more and more California products will pour through its ports to the far corners of the globe and more men will find more jobs making more things for world markets. So, let us pause this week to give thought to world trade and its effect upon the economy, not only of the nation as a whole but of this state which has so many products that other nations need and which help our country maintain a favorable trade balance.

ADEQUATE AIRPORTS

On June 14 in San Francisco there will be a conference which should be of vital interest to every community in Northern and Central California. At this meeting held by the bay area aviation committee and the Northern and Central California chamber of commerce executives, CAA spokesmen will outline procedures that communities must follow in order to become eligible for participation in the federal airport aid bill.

We have entered the air age and it behooves every community to give thought to the adequacy of its airport facilities. Not long ago a reconverted pasture suitable for light planes may have seemed sufficient. But that era has ended. Rural communities are being linked to urban centers by feeder air lines. Such a program is already under way in California and is growing rapidly.

The time has come therefore to take stock. San Francisco has embarked on a $20,000,000 airport expansion project designed not only to strengthen its position as an international air center but as the hub of a network of airlines covering the entire state. But what of the cities of the interior? Are they prepared? If not, prompt action is essential for in the not too distant future a city which does not have an adequate airport will be virtually marooned in this air age.

FIRE IN OUR FORESTS

A disaster of major proportions confronts the people of California this year. yet that disaster can be averted by the exercise of a little care and some plain common sense.

Yes, we're talking about forest fires. Already this year there have been several and the hazard is certain to increase as the summer wears along.

Fires destroyed more forest acreage in California in 1944 than in all other western states combined. The loss was estimated at least a million dollars. And last year, this state had 9226 forest fires—twice as many as in 1944.

Here is what Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul has to say about the situation. He is president of the University of California and acting chairman of the natural resources committee of the California state chamber of commerce:

"There is every prospect of increasing fire hazard this year. The thousands of campers and sportsmen who will vacation in the woods must immediately and continually take proper precautions. God gave us a wonderful woodland heritage. Lack of reasonable precautions may ruin an area within a day. Let us all be forest fire conscious."

Wise words those. We are all equally to blame, the city man camping in the woods, the anglers and hunters, the farmers and stockmen and timbermen. So watch that camp fire. If you must smoke see that your matches and cigarets are really out. Take other precautions. In brief, use common sense.

AIR LINE WILL LINK 16 CITIES WITH SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6—San Francisco will become the hub of an air service reaching into 16 counties unded a franchise granted recently by the Civil Aeronautics Board to Southwest Airways of Thunderbird Field, Arizona.

The line's proposed service will extend from Los Angeles to Medford and will consist of three eggs.

One will start at San Francisco and bring regular service to Santa Rosa, Ukiah, Fort Bragg and Eureka.

The second will start at San Francisco and serve Vallejo, Sacramento, Marysville, Chico, Red Bluff, Redding, Dunsmuir and Yreka.

The third will take off from Los Angeles and after stops at Oxnard, Ventura, Santa Barbara and Santa Maria will link San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles, Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Jose and San Franciso.

Leland Hayward president of the Southwest Airlines announced that service will get underway in four months. Initial equipment will consist of six Douglas DC-3 airliners for passenger and cargo carrying.

Mrs. Andrew Hoteling of Piedment is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. T. R. Powell.

STEPS TO AVERT US FOOD SHORTAGE URED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6—Steps to avert a domestic shortage of bread and feed were advocated by the San Francisco chamber of commerce last week after its industrial department had sponsored a meeting of food industry representatives with Dewey Anderson, executive secretary of the US senate's special small business committee.

The chamber urged that War Food order No. 144 be implemented to assure the fair allocation of flour and feed to preserve the domestic milling baking and livestock industries and outlined a three point program by which it believed this can be done.

God the Only Cause and Creator, is the subject of the Christian Science lesson sermon for June 9, with the golden text from Jeremiah: The Lord is the true God, he is the living God and an everlasting king. He hath made the earth by his power he hath established the world by his wisdom and hath stretched out the heavens by his disretion, 10:10, 12.

Romans 11:36: For of him are all things to whom be glory for ever. Amen.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if the dove of peace,
Finding no welcome anywhere,
Will wing her way to outer space
Coo cooing in despair.

I wonder if the flare of realization now sweeping the country will be followed by a season of reasonableness upon the part of labor and management, labor leaders and leading industrialists, senators and the general public, too.

Members of labor unions must realize that they have gone too far in the use of their powers, labor leaders surely realize that they may no longer plunge the city, state or nation, into a state of chaotic confusion at a moments notice and that with impunity.

Our worthy senators, must realize that a long suffering public is now demanding of them, action instead of idle words the passage of laws strong enough to deal with crippling rtrikes and to protect America from the threat of revolution.

We, the patient little people surely realize at long last, that our American constitution with its guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is still in effect and that it is the duty of every individual to proclaim its efficacy and demand of our law makers that they safeguard our inheritance and preserve with all the zeal of which they are capable the integrity of our rights and privileges under the flag.

Labor leaders in the white heat of unreasoning anger have boasted of the influence they intend to wield in the defeat of President Truman if he ever again aspires to public office. Whitney may come to realize that the buying of votes and the intimidation of voters are unpopular occupations in the land of the free.

Some are threatening to organize a third party but this need not disturb those who seek to escape from labor's intolerable tyrannies. Third parties come and go most of them leaving few traces behind. A third party organized for the sole purpose of defying the government will surely vanish like "snow upon the deserts's dusty face." The rank and file of labor's millions will realize that fact in time, we hope.

Our senators must step out of the kindergarten class and comport themselves like men. The filibuster is as out dated as the strike. The men who would resort to that expedient in order to confuse important issues and kill remedial measures should be marked for a speedy return to the pleasures and pastures of private life. Let the voter remember that empty barrels make the most noise and choose his candidate not for his ability to talk a measue to death but for his calm judgment and his manifest desire to serve the people, all the people, reasonably and all the time. A serpent's tongue the ability to blast the name of a political opponent, these are not the signs of patriotic ability, this is not argument, the calling of names is merely a childish exhibition of ill temper, Awake voters —now is the time to arise and use all the reasonableness at our comman.—A. Merriam Conner.

NEVADA COUNTY TAX BUDGET

Nevada county budgeted $659,48 fo7 expenditures and reserves for 1945-46, $59,407 more than the $600,080 budgeted for 1944-45 California taxpayers association said today making public its study comparing county budgets for 1945-46 and last year.

The county's salaries and wages budget for this year amounted to 140,151, compared with $120,670 for last year. Aid and welfare budget for 1945-46 was $324,321 and $340,265 for 1945. Maintenance and operation had $134,915 budgeted for this year and $123,145 for last year. Capital outlay budget was $10,6$$ for 1946; $6,000 last year. Reserves set up in the budget were $49,000 this year and $10,000 last year.

In 54 of California's 57 counties budgeted expenditures and reserves for 1946 were higher than they were for 1945. Fifty five counties show higher budgets for salaries and wages for this year than for last, fifty counties showed higher maintenance and operation budgets; 48 showed greater sums set up for capital; 30 showed larger reserves and 9 no change in reserves.

Demands for higher salaries and wages increased costs for supplies and materials and expanded construction are the reasons most often advanced for proposing bigger budgets for the coming fiscal year.

In considering proposed local government budgets for the fiscal year citizens should keep in mind the increases already made in budgeted expenditures for the current year over those for last year.

The city of Grass Valley, Nevada County was incorporated April 15, 1861.

Botanist To Return To South America

BERKELEY, June 6—Dr. T. H. Goodspeed professor of botany and director of the botanical garden on the Berkeley campus will revisit Colombia, S. A., as a guest of the national universities of that republic. At the invitation of Dr. German Archiniegas minister of education he and Mrs. Goodspeed will fly to Coiombia in July returning in September.

Goodspeed will lecture on botanical topics in Bogota, Cali and Medellin and will make plans for the botanical garden to be built at the latter city. Medellin in the semitropical portion of northwestern Colombia is called the orchid capital of South America because it has long been the center of export of the valuable Colombian orchid plants found in nearby tropical rain forests.

Goodspeed will also caryy on his studies of the distribution of the vegetation of the west coast of South America, collecting plants of scientific interest, particularly orhcids to enrich the collection of South American species now growing in the botanical garden in Berkeley.

This will be the fourth plant hunting expedition to South America from the university potanical garden since 1935. In that period botanists from Berkeley and their north and south American assistants have explored under Goodspeed's direction bringing back to Berkeley over 100,000 dried plant specimens and seeds of many new or little known species of scientific agricultural, industrial and ornamental importance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH IN ANNUAL MEETING

Until all responsible government heads are made to realize that the measure of a nation's true greatness is the spiritual stature of its people, rather than its physical resources there can be no end to the conflict between materially mental forces that precipitated World War II. The Christian Science board of directors told the annual meeting of the Mother Church the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston.

The time has come the directors affirmed when representatives of all social and religious systems are being called upon to give something more convincing than promises, preachments and paganistic pageantries to sustain the faith of their fellows and to provide for a lasting peace.

If these systems are to survive, declared the official spokesman of the world embracing Chistian Science movement they must "furnish proof that the ideals for which they stand can be made of practical use in advancing the cultural, economic and spiritual welfare of the race."

This statement from the directors was given before thousands of Christian Scientists attending the first peace time annual meeting in five years many of whom came from countries long shut off from the world by war. They brought with them vital lessons from the troubled years just passed to emphasize the directors contention that "the supreme duty of statesmen and church men at this crucial hour is to use every means at their command to prevent another world conflict and to bind up the unhealed wounds left by the last one."

"This is no time for them to resort either to subterfuge or aggression as a means of extending the political influence of any church or state".

Continuing on these lines the directors insisted that "there is no room in the church for politics, and in a democratic system of government there is no room in politics for the church. There is however always room in politics for the moral sense of religion."

Applying that statement with equal force to national and international affairs the directors added: "It makes little difference whether it be a conflict between political ideoligies and religious dogmas or an open warfare between armed forces, the results are always stulifying.

"If those who are today engaged in the grave task of building a world government for the purpose of establishing permanent and universal peace on earth, fail to turn to God for guidance and fail to make spiritual integrity the very foundational stone in their structures, they will have labored in vain."

Excavation For Building Uncovers Ore Ledge

While excavating in preparation for building on Main Street opposite the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley workmen discovered a ledge which, old time miners declared showed good values in gold. Specimens of the ore were shown along the street by Pete Brunstutter, veteran miner, who panned some of the ore to find plenty of colors.

The strike is what miners call a "crossing" and was made on a site of a house, recently removed which had stood there for approximately 80 years. A new garage is to be erected upon the lot.

Millions of people are starving in Europe and Asia... and it is up to us Americans to feed them! We hope for peace and understanding in the world, and it will take bread and butter to realize that hope. We must give generously... and that means there will be some food scarcity at home. The way out is through a lesson we learned during the war ...raising food in our home gardens! In wartime 1943 the U. S. raised eight million tons of food in Victory Gardens, and American housewives put up three and one-half billion quarts of food... most of it home-grown. It is time for Americans to do it again!

Good Strategy

Congressman Hatton Sumners, in my opinion one of America's greatest living statesmen, has announced his purpose to retire at the end of the 79th congress. This news first appeared as a dark cloud because men like him are sorely needed today, but in Washington last month I was shown the silver lining. Rep. Sumners is "retiring" to a more strategic theatre of war.

The people of America have a danger that is common to them all and a common duty to defend themselves against it. This nation's hope for a bright future depends on a few facts being seen by a great many people at once. Americans can be depended upon for action at any time the truth is not hidden from them or distorted beyond recognition. Mr. Sumners will soon start talking straight to them.

Powerful Truths

"I have watched what my own generation . . . has been doing to the greatest system of democratic government ever evolved through the processes of the ages," said the veteran lawmaker. "By ignoring principles and the lessons of history, accepting for our guidance the theories of men and political expedience, we have made dependents of our citizens and vassals of our states.

"By concentration of power and drafts on the Federal Treasury we now have a bewildering governmental agglomeration impossible of democratic control. Wasteful and inefficient, by nature it is the instrumentality of favoritism, oppression and corruption. It is the destroyer of self-reliance, self-respect and self-governing ability without which no people can remain free."

But There's Hope

A public awakening will save this country from any form of tyranny. Mr. Sumners does not doubt this. He said, "Washington is as sensitive to the changing currents of public opinion as a barometer is to record changes in the weather." If acts of congress fail to reflect public sentiment, it is because such sentiment is itself confused or indistinct to the majority.

Mr. Sumners is taking to the lecture platform. I wish him as wide a hearing as his profound experience deserves. Popular education is the right place to start winning for America a future of freedom. This man has seen Congress sweat under heat applied by political pressure groups. He sees the need to open a door and admit a cooling draft of public sentiment. And he can do it.

Remarkable Record

Born in Tennessee, Hatton Sumners turned 21 in Texas. His congressional district (Dallas) has kept him in Washington 34 years by electing him to the 63rd and all subsequent congresses. He is a sound thinker and an eloquent speaker. He is a nationally recognized authority on Constitutional Law. He is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and has been for a long time.

In a brief and eloquent word-picture of official Washington, the retiring crusader for decentralization of power said of Congress: "The political backing of a well organized minority is consistent and dependable whereas the backing of an unorganized majority is fickle." That's clear. An enlightened public opinion must supplant loud and selfish minorities as guiding stars of Congress.

Uncle Sam Says

Take a look at this U. S. Savings Bond, friend. You don't have to be a seventh son of a seventh son to see your future. If travel is your desire some day, or you hope to see your boy or girl in college, or you dream of owning a farm, this Bond can help to make these dreams come true. Bonds accumulate faster than you imagine when you save regularly through the payroll savings plan where you work. Every $18.75 you put away in United States Savings Bonds grows to $25 in ten years. U. S. Treasury Department

Bill Tobiassen To Voyage Overseas

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen has received word from his son Bill now a student in the College of the Pacific, that he has been chosen as a sailing cowboy to look after consignments of heifers which are being sent overseas for European relief. Two of his college friends have been chosen with him.

Young Tobiassen reports that the trip will take from six to eight weeks with all expenses paid and afford an interesting travel holiday.

Churches of many denominations are now raising funds for the purpose of buying heifers and sending them abroad to restock the pastures and dairies of war stricken lands.

FOR VETERANS WHO PLAN MORE SCHOOLING

Veterans planning to attend school for the first time next fall under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act should apply immediately for their certificates of eligibility, Col. Thomas J. Cross VA chief here said today.

Many thousands of veterans plan to attend California, Arizona and Nevada schools this fall and subsistence payments may be delayed if too many applications swamp VA offices at the last minute.

Veterans may apply for their certificates of eligibility by writing or calling in person at the nearest VA office. The VA will then issue the certificate which he should take with him when he enrolls in school.

The certificate becomes the basis for paying the veteran's tuition fees and subsistence allowance. VA rules do not require the veteran to have the certificate before enrolling but many schools art asking for them before admitting veteran students.

Million Grape Seeds Planted To Improve Vines

LOS ANGELES, June 6—In an effort to find varieties of grape vines that will be resistant to Pierce disease more than 1,000,000 grape seeds have been planted in the horticulaural area on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Pierce's disease is public enemy No. 1 as far as the grape growers in California are concerned. Last year the disease existed in 33 counties of the state and did damage estimated at nearly $7,500,000.

The project on the Los Angeles campus is under the direction of Dr. Harold P. Ilmo, assistant professor of viticulture on the Berkeley campus of the state univesity and is the outgrowth of preliminary work done by Dr. Olmo and E. R. Eggers associate in horticulture on the Los Angeles campus.

Olmo says that through mass planting it is hoped that some vines resistant to the disease might be obtained. In preliminary experiments 3000 seedlings of the Ribier variety were planted but only four survived. Of 3777 Emperor seedlings only 48 are alive.

Pierce's disease formerly called Aneheim disease is a virus carried by several different species of large leaf hoppers usually bright green or blue green in color.

January Disasters Bring Quick Red Cross Action

Destructive floods and tornadoes beginning in early January were grim reminders that more Americans died in home-front accidents and disasters during World War II than as war casualties.

By mid-month the siege, brought on unseasonably early by warm weather and heavy rains, had claimed 54 dead and upwards of 150 hospitalized; records indicate. Thousands of families in rural areas of 11 midwestern and southern states were affected.

Red Cross chapter workers who last year helped their communities through 260 disasters have again worked 'round the clock. Assisting them have been doctors, nurses, and others rushed by the Red Cross to stricken areas. Surveys for the refurnishing, rebuilding, and repairing of damaged or destroyed homes, barns, and other buildings began immediately. Rehabilitation will be completed in March. Undoubtedly new disasters will strike during the spring months and will keep the organization working at top speed in this humanitarian parade which never ends.

In providing food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care, varying problems confront the Red Cross, particularly in rural sections.

In flooded Mississippi valley areas, Red Cross has obtained a priority release of house trailers to supplement tents used in sheltering farmers rescued from flooded areas. When evacuation of farm families and livestock has been necessary, coast guard and navy boats have assisted. Recent coal shortages in disaster areas were relieved when Red Cross action resulted in diversion of fuel to critical sections.

An hour after surveys have been completed, the Red Cross has obtained priority release of lumber and other building materials. Included has been screen wire to help prevent the spread of disease in malaria affected areas.

In floods and hurricanes, local Red Cross disaster units, through advance weather bureau advisories, have warned residents in time for safe evacuation; in remote sections, they have effected rescues. In all disasters, tornadoes, fires, floods, hurricanes, train wrecks, they have quickly sought out injured, given first aid, and arranged hospital care. Hundreds of thousands of homeless have been sheltered, clothed, and fed.

In Paterson, New Jersey, a new chapter disaster chairman successfully tackled problems of the worst flood in that city's history. Two days after a Red Cross disaster conference in Montgomery, Alabama, a tornado ripped through the city. Outstanding care given the injured wrote a bright page in the year's disaster history.

In states where polio outbreaks occurred, Red Cross chapter volunteers hurriedly improvised hospital articles. In Salt Lake City, Disaster Service supplied face masks, children's nightgowns, hospital shirts, surgical gowns for nurses, blankets, and sheets. When flannelette could not be found for hot packs, Red Cross supplied 1,000 diapers for the purpose.

But whether disaster or any of many other Red Cross services, all are available to people in rural communities no less than in large cities. Home nursing, farm accident prevention, assistance to families of men in uniform and to veterans—these services continue year-in, year-out. During March the Red Cross is appealing for $100,000,000. It needs every bit of that amount to meet obligations to the armed forces and civilian population.

"We all have a share in the American Red Cross," said Basil O'Connor, Red Cross Chairman, when announcing the appeal. "Let's all maintain that share by contributing generously to the 1946 Fund Campaign and keeping our Red Cross society the strongest in the world."

IMPRESSIVE VOTE FOR SEN. KNOWLAND

The vote Tuesday for United States Senator William F. Knowland on both tickets while he remained at his post of duty in Washington and his two opponents made intensive statewide campaigns, was impressive.

Senator Knowland appointed by Governor Warren on August 14, 1945 while serving overseas in the armed forces, took his seat in the senate on September 5 and has since remained on the job. He has believed that the many grave problems confronting congress required the attention of both California's senators.

Senator Knowland stated in Washington today that on the adjournment of the senate which will probably be in late July he will return to California and personally report to the people in every section. He will freely and frankly discuss the issues.

Knowland's statement follows:

First I wish to express my appreciation to the people of California who regardless of partisan affiliation have supported my candidacy for retention in the senate of the United States as one of California's two representatives in the senate. It has been my view that as long as congress is in session my post of duty is in Washington helping to take care of the public's business rather than engaging in an extensive personal campaign.

Since taking my oath of office, among the many bills that have been before us, or soon will be, are those dealing with the dislocation of the nation's economy caused by the coal and rail strikes, selective service, the OPA, atomic energy control, veteran's housing, rivers and harbors appropriations, UNRRA and the revised GI Bill of Rights.

Just as soon as the press of public business will permit, I shall return to California to discuss fully and frankly the issues of this campaign directly with the people in all sections of the state.

Tire Troubles Lead Auto Stalling List

Based on reports obtained by the AAA from 12,000 garages under contract to render service to members, it is estimated that last year motorists experienced more than 36,000,000 breakdowns, compared with 30,700,000 in 1944 and 31,000,000 in the pre war year of 1941.

Over 11,000,001 tires went flat, accounting for nearly one third of the years stalled cars.
